Volunteer With Raggy Charters

Experience South Africa's Ocean Wildlife While Supporting Conservation

Have you ever dreamed of being surrounded by some of the largest animals on Earth? Imagine joining a boat trip across the Indian Ocean, watching whales and dolphins in their natural environment, learning from experienced marine guides, and becoming part of a team dedicated to protecting our oceans.

Join Raggy Charters in South Africa for a unique international volunteering experience combining marine conservation, wildlife encounters, environmental education, eco-tourism, cultural exchange, and life by the ocean.

Raggy Charters offers international volunteers the opportunity to become involved in marine conservation and eco-projects while experiencing the incredible wildlife of South Africa.

1 About Raggy Charters

Raggy Charters is the oldest eco-whale watching company in the region and the only operator with all the necessary permits to ensure the highest standards for responsible marine wildlife encounters.

As a volunteer, you will have the opportunity to become part of the Raggy Charters team, taking part in a wide range of activities, including environmental education, conservation initiatives, community outreach, marine wildlife monitoring, scientific projects and spending more time at sea while learning from experienced professionals.

Daily operations including but are not limited to: assisting with the preparation and running of boat trips, helping to maintain our boats, welcoming and interacting with guests, sharing information about marine wildlife and supporting research activities whenever required. During our cruises, we collect valuable data on the whales and dolphins and we do photo-identification, and volunteers are encouraged to participate in this process. The photographs and the data contribute to long-term studies on cetacean populations, migration patterns, behaviour, and conservation.

2 Volunteer activities

As a volunteer at Raggy Charters, you will be assisting with the daily activities of the organisation and even some extraordinary activities. Every day is different, depending on the weather, wildlife sightings, and ongoing projects:

- Recording marine wildlife sightings and collecting field data
- Photography of marine wildlife and daily operations.
- Helping with the day-to-day running of our base, including caring for our dogs and assisting with shared household tasks
- Assisting with the preparation and running of boat trips, welcoming and interacting with guests, sharing information about marine wildlife and supporting research activities whenever required.
- Planned events participation and logistic help.
- Possibility of visits to nearby game reserves and national parks, where you may have the opportunity to observe South Africa's iconic wildlife

3 Costs & Programme Options

We offer several programme options to suit different schedules and interests. Regardless of the duration of your stay, every volunteer contributes to the protection and conservation of Algoa Bay's unique marine and coastal ecosystems.

You can join the programme for one, two, or three months. While a one-month stay provides an excellent introduction to the programme, we highly recommend staying two or three months to fully immerse yourself in the experience, develop your skills, and make the most of everything Raggy Charters has to offer.
